Whether choosing seating and table solutions for a classroom, conference room, or training center, American Seating has long lasting and stylish solutions that are sure to please. With ergonomic seating designs, and power and data options incorporated into a variety of table lines, their product solutions are proven to provide quality, longevity, and a great return on investment.

As educational and contract furniture needs have evolved through the years, American Seating has responded with innovative product solutions for the K-12 and college and university market. They have developed products that are ergonomically designed, flexible in nature, and loaded with power and data options.

Bouty and its sister company ADI (Art Design International) design and manufacture a broad spectrum of seating for the commercial and public areas. With a rich culture of engineering and innovation, these companies continually strive to offer clients furniture that is ergonomically and esthetically designed while never compromising comfort and durability.

When You Need Solution-Based Tables

Hi5 Furniture, Inc., is a woman-owned, Kansas City, Missouri, based company established in 2008. All products are engineered based on utilizing local vendor capabilities. In 2009 during a down economy, Hi5 introduced new business to several wood mills, steel plants, powder coating and custom fabrication factories throughout Kansas and Missouri. Hi5 is proud to preserve the tradition of hand crafting furniture in America. Based in the "Heart of America", they are committed to advancing the lives of the people in their local community while maintaining true American quality. Hi5 manufactures tables in the contract furniture industry and specializes in making "customs" as a standard way of doing business. Hi5 provides tables for conference, classroom, training, hospitality, lounge and collaboration spaces.
